

Charlotte Robertson

Volunteering at the New Zealand Cat Foundation

..."the importance of giving back...."

"I chose to do this experience because of how much I love animals, and this also ticked off hours that I needed in regards to my future Vet degree."

It involves feeding and grooming the many cats that call it home, and a lot of cat cuddling too! I do this experience every Saturday for 2 hours. The main thing I have learnt about myself from this experience is my love of service, especially helping those who are less fortunate than myself. I have also learned about the importance of service in the community. As a Dio student, I constantly hear about how important service is to others and how it can impact lives, but I never truly understood the impact that it can have on those who cannot voice their needs, like animals.

These benefits allow you to become an overall more well rounded person, but also one that understands the importance of giving back to the community."